You Own the Stage

Our school's English Drama Team participated in this year's Hong Kong School Drama Festival with their production, "(A)I Can Do It." The team took home two awards: Outstanding Stage Effects and Outstanding Performer.

The play tells a captivating story about the main character, Vanessa, facing a difficult choice between relying on advanced AI technology and valuing real-life friendships. It explores the conflicts and dilemmas that arise when technology meets human connection. The central question of the story is: What does the protagonist ultimately gain? Is it the sense of achievement brought by an AI assistant, or is it the warmth and trust of genuine friendship? This thought-provoking performance encouraged our young audience to reflect on the role of technology in our lives and the irreplaceable value of true friends.

We are incredibly proud of our talented drama club members for their hard work, creativity, and dedication, which shone brightly on stage and brought such honour to our school.

4C 2. Chan Sau Nam, Elite

In the play, I took on the role of the housekeeper. My biggest challenge was mastering expressive facial acting, which I overcame by practising in front of a mirror daily. This experience taught me that while AI is convenient, real teamwork with peers is irreplaceable; technology simply cannot replicate the trust and connection we build on stage. Winning the award for Outstanding Performer makes me incredibly proud, as it validates both my individual hard work and our collective effort.

6D 33. Wong Chin Yau, Sherry

I played a girl named Vanessa, who was the main character of the play. I had a lot of fun acting with my friends, but the most challenging part of the performance was changing scenes. Through this experience, I learned the importance of teamwork and that we shouldn't rely solely on AI. I was surprised and deeply touched when I received the award for Outstanding Performer, especially since this is my last year in PLKCJY. It was a great way to end my six years here.

Green Explorers: Our Cross-Curricular Adventure at K11 MUSEA!

During Learning Across Curriculum Week, P.4 students visited K11 MUSEA in Tsim Sha Tsui to study green building practices. After learning the principles of sustainable architecture in class, they explored the landmark first-hand, discovering eco-friendly features like natural lighting, energy-saving systems, and vertical greening.

Following the field trip, students used the virtual reality application "CoSpaces" to design digital models of an ideal green school campus, completing a full learning cycle from experience to creation.

This excursion also complemented their English unit, "Travelling Around". As they investigated green architecture, students experienced famous cultural landmarks along the Tsim Sha Tsui waterfront, allowing them to practise English in an authentic, engaging, and real-world context.

A Fantastic Day Out at the Cinema

Primary 6 students enjoyed an educational trip to see Zootopia 2, boosting their English learning and creating lasting memories. The students returned to school with newfound enthusiasm and insights, making this a truly memorable and enriching experience.
