Good People Good Deeds

Super typhoon Mangkhut just passed Hong Kong few days ago. Many buildings, roads and trees were heavily damaged. The whole city was in chaos. The roads were blocked. Some people were with no water and electricity supplies. Many people needed to help after disaster.

Luckily, there were some people, who were willing to spend their time and take risks to help others. Here were some examples. A group of people who organized an activity that asking people living near Tseung Kwan O, to clear off the broken trees and damaged roads together. Surprisingly, many surrounding neighbors joined the activity in a very short time. They said, “We are living here. We have the responsibilities to keep our city clean and pleasant. That’s why we are here to do the clean up.”

On the other hand, taxi driver Mr. Ma gave free rides to those in need. After the super typhoon, many roads were blocked. Public transportations like MTR or buses were severely affected. People who still needed to work in places like hospitals and civic sectors could not go to work as usual. Mr. Ma drove his taxi and gave free rides to them. He said, “We are Hong Kong people, we need to help ourselves, so I will not charge them extra money for a ride. Instead, I give them a free ride. That’s our Hong Kong spirit.”

Good people, good deeds. I think that is what about. I believe that is my hometown, Hong Kong.
