A meaningful job I want to be

I want to be a teacher when I grow up. I want to be an art teacher and a music teacher because I like these two subjects. Sometimes, I will draw pictures and sing songs in my spare time. The reasons why I want to be a teacher is because I like children very much and I hope the children can learn more from me. Also, I think it is a meaningful job too!

Teachers need to do many things at school, for example, taking care of students, teaching students some knowledge in class, organizing activities, marking students' homework and preparing lessons.

If I want to be a teacher, I need to be understanding so that I can understand what the students think. I need to be caring too! If I am caring, I can take care of the students very well. In addition, teachers need to be patient because they need to listen to their students. Then they can understand the students' problems and help them solve their problems. Besides, they need to be attentive so they will know what the students' needs are.

In order to make my dream come true, I will work very hard in primary school and secondary school so that I can study at the Education University of Hong Kong. Then the schools will employ me in the future.
